

City Furniture contest aids school kids' sleep

September 6th, 2013 by Emily Roach

City Furniture says sleep is a valuable school supply your child may be missing.

If you enter the South Florida-based retailer's Get Back to Sleep contest, you can win one of three mattresses the furniture chain is giving away. No surprise, it's Facebook based.

The deadline is Wednesday, Sept. 11. Three Serta Mattress sets will be given away, according to the store's promotional materials.

"As a company that started in the waterbed business, nobody understands the value of a good night's sleep better than us," City Furniture President Keith Koenig said in the news release. "This year we've completely revamped our mattress line and added Sleep Specialists to help customers get a better night's sleep.

"The contest is another way to say thanks to the community that's made our growth possible."
